Theatre

Located between the Eisenhower Rooms and the Lower Lobby, the Theatre has seating for 300 guests. Comfortable padded seats provide a spectacular view of a stage perfect for performances and a giant screen for movies or presentations.

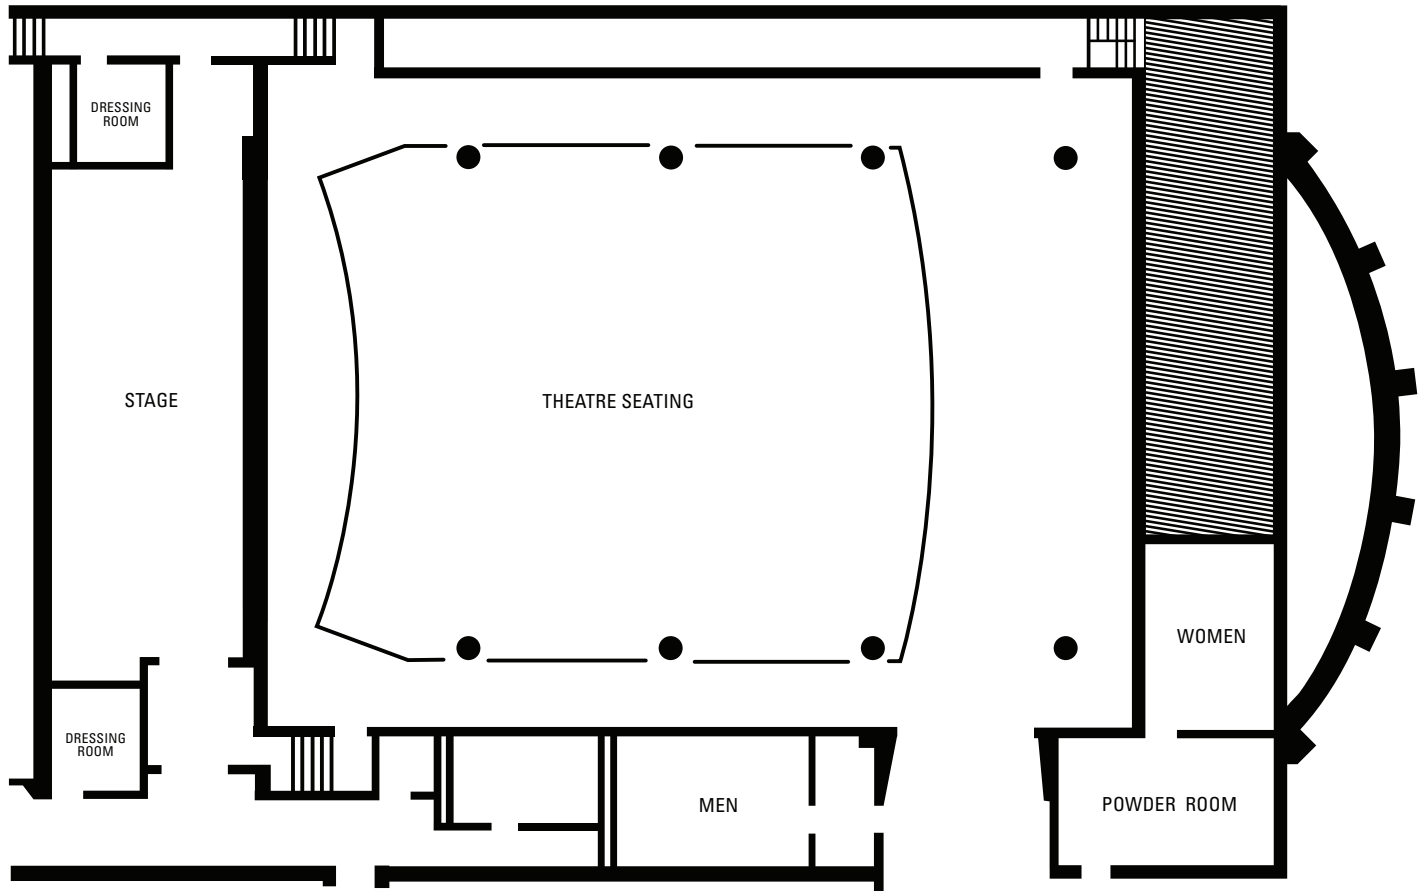

The theatre regularly hosts complimentary movies, history presentations and other entertainment for guests, but it's also an ideal spot for lectures, audio-visual presentations on informational sessions with large groups. It's decorated with vintage posters of actors and actresses, and the back of the room provides ample space for tables, displays or refreshments.
